

MESSIAH UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

CIRCUIT WRITER

From Pastor's desk

I have been taking some time to read and study the book of Joshua. As I reflect further on the journey of Joshua and the people, I am reminded that faith often requires stepping out into the unknown, trusting that God's direction will be revealed along the way. Just as the Israelites were called to move forward with courage, we too are invited to embrace new beginnings, even when the path ahead seems uncertain. It is in these moments—when we lean into God's vision and relinquish our anxieties—that we discover the true strength of community and the enduring hope that sustains us. Let us move forward together, confident that God is not finished with us yet and that each day brings a new opportunity to serve, grow, and live out His purpose.

There are some things about Joshua that resonate with me.

Joshua's story reminds me that embracing God's vision sometimes means letting go of familiar routines and adapting to new challenges with faith and perseverance. The journey wasn't just about reaching a destination—it was about cultivating trust, unity, and a willingness to listen for God's guidance in every circumstance. As we face our own uncertainties, we are called to support one another, encourage bold steps, and recognize that God's promises extend beyond what we can see or understand. In following Joshua's example, may we remain open to the ways God is shaping us individually and as a church, trusting that each step forward is part of a greater purpose unfolding through us.

This trust was essential for the people to move forward and accept the new possibilities God was offering, even when the destination was unknown and the journey unfamiliar. Just as Joshua's leadership required both faith and courage, so too are we challenged to place our confidence not only in those guiding us, but also in the promises that God sets before us. As we step into new seasons, may we remember that true vision calls us to participate wholeheartedly, believing that each step, no matter how uncertain, is part of God's ongoing story of renewal and hope.

Just as the journey from Egypt to the promised land required faith in a new leader and vision, so too do we find ourselves at the threshold of new beginnings—encountering opportunities to grow and serve that may look different from what we have known. The path forward isn't always clear, yet God calls us to trust, to adapt, and to embrace the unfolding story He is writing through our lives and our church. With each generation, God brings fresh perspectives and renewed purpose, inviting all of us, whether we lead or follow, to participate in the work of building a community rooted in hope, unity, and Christlike love. As we step into this new season, let us remember that we are part of something greater than ourselves, and that together, we can live out God's vision with courage and anticipation for what lies ahead.

Just as Joshua and his generation were entrusted with forging a path forward, we, too, are called to carry the vision God plants in our hearts—whether from the pulpit, the pew, or behind the scenes. It is in our willingness to trust, collaborate, and step beyond the familiar that we create a vibrant community, united not only by shared beliefs but by the hope that God's story is still unfolding through us.

As we reflect on the meaning of vision within our faith journey, it becomes clear that God's call is not limited by titles or positions, but is extended to all who are willing to respond. The ongoing story of the church is shaped by each person who chooses to step forward, trusting that even when the next chapter is unfamiliar, God's guidance and purpose will unfold through our shared commitment. Let us embrace this season with hearts open to new possibilities, confident that our collective faith and courage will lead us toward deeper unity and greater impact in the world around us.

Vision is not just a fancy buzzword but it is a roadmap to growth, spiritual development, and Christlike living and mission. One of the major things about the vision that God gives his people and his leaders is that it is both shared and implemented not by those who are in leadership positions, but sometimes by those people who sit in the pews, and don't hold a leadership role.

As we move forward from the joy of Easter, we are reminded that the resurrection is not simply an event to commemorate, but an ongoing invitation to embrace God's unfolding vision for us. This vision calls us to step out of our comfort zones, leaving behind the doubts and fears that linger from past disappointments, and instead to live boldly in the promise of new life. Just as the disciples eventually found the courage to trust in what seemed impossible, we are invited to let our faith propel us into a future where God's purposes are continually revealed through our actions, our community, and our willingness to serve. Let us be encouraged that the story of our church, like the story of the disciples, is still being written—and that each day brings new opportunities to reflect Christ's love and hope in all we do.

As we reflect on the transformation from despair to hope, it becomes clear that God's vision always invites us to move forward, trusting that even when we feel uncertain or afraid, the story is not over. Instead, we are called to embrace the ongoing work of faith, allowing the resurrection to inspire us to live boldly and purposefully, knowing that each new day is another chance to grow, serve, and witness to God's love. Let us encourage one another to shift from a mindset of limitation to one of expectation, confident that God's plans for our church and our lives are continually unfolding, and that together, we are part of a greater story filled with promise and possibility.

Too often, we find ourselves lingering in moments of uncertainty, hesitating to step forward into the fullness of what God has planned because our hearts remain tethered to past fears and disappointments. Yet, the resurrection reminds us that God specializes in transforming endings into beginnings, inviting us to trust that every setback can become a setup for renewed purpose. As we commit to embracing this vision together, let us encourage one another to move boldly beyond yesterday's limitations, confident that through faith, unity, and hope, the story of our church and our lives will continue to unfold in ways we could never imagine.

Even when we find ourselves facing moments that feel like endings, God's vision assures us that there is always more to the story, with new chapters yet to be written. We are called to live out this truth, embracing each day as an opportunity to carry forward Christ's message of hope and love. By trusting in God's ongoing purpose, we are encouraged not only to persevere, but also to step forward with renewed faith, knowing that every challenge can become a catalyst for spiritual growth and deeper connection within our church community.

Sincerely,

Pastor J

With sincere gratitude, for Doug Graham!

I extend my thanks to Doug for his faithful service, wise leadership, and deep commitment to Messiah United Methodist Church.

As a pastor, there are individuals who shape one's ministry in ways that strengthen the work of building the kingdom of God. Among the most significant relationships a pastor can have is the relationship with the chairperson of the Staff-Parish Relations Committee. That partnership can shape an appointment, support a pastor, and contribute meaningfully to the growth and health of the church. When I arrived at Messiah Church, I was blessed to meet my SPRC chairperson, Doug Graham. During my three years here, Doug has helped shape my path forward. He has offered wise counsel, guided me thoughtfully through difficult circumstances, and helped me develop stronger relationships with members of the congregation.

After many years of faithful service in this role, Doug has discerned that this is the appropriate time to step back. I will miss his wise counsel, and I will especially miss the thoughtful questions he offered in meetings—questions marked by wisdom, care, and spiritual depth. He has served in a quiet and faithful manner that reflects both his deep commitment to Jesus Christ and his steadfast love for Messiah United Methodist Church. As he entrusts this season of leadership to the next generation, I am confident that he will continue to encourage, support, and, in his own quiet way, help me lead in a manner that brings glory to Christ and calls the church to faithfulness.

Today, I express my sincere gratitude to Doug for his many years of service to Messiah United Methodist Church. When you see Doug around the church, I encourage you to thank him for his support, his leadership, the challenges he has helped navigate, and the victories he has helped make possible. Thank you again, Doug. May God bless you and guide you in all that lies ahead.

We are delighted to welcome Laurie Corbin!

Laurie is a lifelong United Methodist whose faith and service have been a blessing to the church in many meaningful ways. Here at Messiah United Methodist Church, she currently serves as a Sunday school teacher and as a member of the pastor's vision team. She has also shared her gifts through the Simpson Fletcher finance team, the Women's Day Committee, the Community Outreach Board, and many other areas of ministry.

Laurie brings a caring spirit, thoughtful leadership, and a heart for serving God's people to our Pastor-Parish Relations Committee. Before retirement, she served in a supervisory role, leading teams within an organization that supported people throughout the Philadelphia area. Her background in social work and advocacy gives her a compassionate and valuable perspective as we seek to support and encourage those who serve here at Messiah.

Laurie enjoys sharing how God is at work in her life and helping others see the gifts and possibilities God has placed within them. She loves working with children and brings joy, energy, creativity, and a willing spirit to all she does. As we continue this journey of ministry together, please join us in warmly welcoming Laurie to the team. Welcome, Laurie—we are grateful to have you with us!

In His service,

UPDATES at Messiah

Messiah has a new garden. We are growing cucumbers, tomatoes, peppers, beans, corn and watermelon. Thank you Pastor J and Laurie for the planting. Everything looks great and is off to a good start. Thank you Lord for the rain and sunshine.

Messiah will also be introducing a new website.

New Digital Changes Are Coming to Messiah

Strengthening Connection, Hospitality, and Ministry in a Digital Age

Why Digital Ministry Matters

The digital age has shaped nearly every part of our lives, including the way the church communicates, welcomes, and connects with people. While it can be easy to assume that the way we have always done things is the way they should continue, today's ministry context invites us to think creatively, act faithfully, and meet people where they are.

Several months ago, I attended a workshop on the digital church and was struck by the ways congregations are engaging people who are seeking Christ in this digital age. Churches are moving beyond older patterns of communication and exploring more direct, accessible, and meaningful ways to reach those who are looking for connection, community, and a relationship with Christ.

New Website for Messiah

One key lesson from that workshop was that curb appeal still matters. Today, the curb of the church is often the website. Many modern church websites are leaner, clearer, and designed to answer the questions a seeker may have before walking through the front doors: Is this church welcoming? How do I get involved? Is there a place for me here?

For Messiah, this means being intentional about how we present ourselves online and how we communicate with members, visitors, and neighbors beyond our walls.

What This Means for Messiah

These changes are not simply about technology. They are about hospitality, connection, and helping people take their next faithful step with confidence and clarity.

Three Upcoming Digital Changes

1. A New Website

Purpose: To create a clearer, more welcoming first impression for members, visitors, and seekers.

The first change will be a new website that is more inviting, easier to navigate, and clearer about who we are. It will help answer frequently asked questions, including how to get involved in ministry, what next steps are available, and how each person can find a place at Messiah. It will also make it easier for people to connect with the church in person and through our social media pages.

2. A Stronger Social Media and Communications Presence

Purpose: To share Messiah's ministry more consistently and keep the congregation informed and connected.

The second change will strengthen Messiah's social media presence. By being more active on Facebook and Instagram, we can share what Messiah has to offer, celebrate ministry, and reach people who may first encounter the church online.

Alongside this, our communication portal will help members stay informed, inspired, and connected to the ministries and opportunities available in the life of the church.

3. Tap Cards in the Sanctuary

Purpose: To make worship participation, giving, and connection more accessible from within the sanctuary.

The third change will bring a digital point of connection into the sanctuary through tap cards.

These cards will make the worship experience more accessible by allowing people to:

- Give from their seats
- Sign up for ministry opportunities
- Request more information
- Complete a digital visitor card
- Access an electronic copy of the bulletin

These steps mark the beginning of a broader effort to build beloved community under the digital umbrella. I am excited for Messiah United Methodist Church to embrace this opportunity and continue becoming a place where faith and real life connect, especially in a digital world.

Sunday School at Messiah

*“Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old, he will not turn from it.”
Proverbs 22:6 (NIV).*

Greetings from Messiah’s Sunday School!

After learning about Jesus’ death and resurrection during the Easter season, the Sunday school class started learning about the Creation story. Our lessons taught the students how God created the earth, including which things he created on each of the first 6 days and how he took time to rest on the 7th day.

We learned about Adam and Eve, their time in the Garden of Eden, and the consequences of their disobedience to God. We wrapped up our Sunday school year by learning about one of the most important people in the bible, Moses. This included his birth, being raised as a member of Pharaoh’s household, and eventually his banishment from Egypt. However, because of Moses’ faithfulness and obedience to God, he was able to free the Israelites from slavery. Our class screened the movie “Prince of Egypt”, which tells the story of Moses.

We highly recommend this movie if you haven’t seen it - great viewing for children and adults. Most of our classes include time for games or arts and crafts. These activities included our students taking time to make gifts for their moms for Mother’s Day. The children painted picture frames (in which their photos were placed) and planted spring flowers which they presented to their mom. Finally, we ended the year with a celebration and recognition for our students.

Each student received a certificate of completion and a backpack filled with books and activities for them to complete during the summer break.

Sunday School is on hiatus for the summer months, which will provide an opportunity for the teachers to plan new lessons and activities for the 2026-27 Sunday School year.

We look forward to continuing to have our current students return to class in the fall, and we hope new children will join us as well. Look forward to seeing everyone in September.
